

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

The water in Lake Champlain is now seven and four-tenths feet above high water mark.

Two cows and a calf were killed at the farm of W. B. Gilpin in Westfield last Friday, when a section of the stable fell into the basement, carrying with it eight cows and four calves.

Five hundred apple trees are to be set out this season on the Eastern Fruit & Nut Orchard company's farm at Grand Isle. This will make 10,000 trees on the premises and next year 300 more will be set out, in all covering 170 acres of land.

The operating revenues of the Rutland railroad for the month of March were $262,611.87 and the operating expenses were $237,217.68, giving a net operating revenue of $25,394.19. For the three months ending March 31, the operating revenues were $757,571.15 and the operating expenses were $757,571.15, giving a net operating revenue of $80,501.35.

John Coffey, aged 60 years, who lives on the shore of Lake Bomoseen in Castleton, was arrested last Saturday for spearing walleye pike. The man was fined $50 and costs of $221.40 for having 10 illegally caught pike in his possession. He pleaded guilty to this and also to having in his possession a spear for taking fish. For this he was sentenced to 30 days in jail, execution of the sentence being suspended for a year. The fine was paid.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

"The Red Widow" at Barre Opera House Next Tuesday.

"The Red Widow," the Channing Pollock, Remond Wolf, Charles Gebast musical comedy that set all New York agog during its long and successful run at the Astor theatre, New York city, is announced as the attraction for Tuesday, May 5th, at the opera house where its presentation will no doubt be received with the same acclaim that was tendered it during its metropolitan run. The piece revolves around the story of a millionaire's son who falls in love with a girl who is the daughter of a poor fisherman. The piece is full of complications, and the story of this nature permits of complications galore and the trilogy of authors are said to have made the most of it. Wit, satire, comedy, music, dancing and other visual delights aid in bringing a happy denouement. The organization brings with it all the scenic splendor and wealth of costume effects that helped make its metropolitan success—Adv.

Trade at Home.

There is a good deal of loose talk about trading at home and supporting the home merchant instead of buying out of town or from mail order houses. In a large measure the merchants have this matter in their own hands and their action will determine to what extent trade is sent away from their own locality. A stock of goods must be had on hand which the people want and there must be fair prices for the same. But too many merchants seem to think that they must be "chased up" when on the other hand the merchants should go after the customer if business is to be kept on the increase.

There are hundreds of small town stores which simply take what business comes in the ordinary way and never think of pushing out after more. They get in a lot of new goods, put them behind the shelves and then expect the people to make a mad rush and buy up the whole lot. Why, bless you, how in the world are the people to know about all these goods, what they are and what they cost?

The salvation—the life—the small town merchant is the local newspaper. There is no known method that will bring the results that can be had from good clean newspaper advertising, and there is no business house that can secure any better results than the small town merchant.

The great trouble with a good many local merchants is that they simply consider putting an advertisement in the local paper as charity. They fail to recognize that the local printer is a business man the same as the dry goods dealer or the hardware man. The real fact is that the local merchants need the local newspaper more than the paper needs the merchants.

But when business concerns in small towns do not improve their opportunities by going after business through the local newspaper they have no real cause to complain when trade goes out of town. Be a live one—go after the business that is right at your own door—Burlington Clipper.

"The Soul of Golf."

There is no game that creates more technical discussion than the game of golf. New ideas based on long experience and study are behind the theories expressed in "The Soul of Golf," an article to be published in the May Century Magazine by P. A. Vailie, author of "Modern Golf."
